ELECTRICITY

FOR LIGHTING

Is only expensive to people who are wasteful and careless. To you who are naturally careful, it does not come high.

Is economical because it can be quickly turned off when not needed. With gas or kerosene there is the temptation to let light burn when not needed to save bother of lighting and adjusting. In some homes the electric light bills amount to only one or two dollars per month. You can probably get some kind of artificial light for less money than electric light, but does it save you anything when it limits opportunities for work and recreation—ruins your eyesight—smokes your walls—mars decorations and increases household work. You could probably save dollars tomorrow by going without your meals but it wouldn't be economy. It is not so much what you save, but how you save that counts.

WILLAMETTE VALLEY CO. RATES—Residence on meters, per month 15c; Residence, flat per month, 15c 50c. OUR MARKET LETTER

Receipts and Sales at Portland Union Stock Yards.

PORTLAND, Or., June 30—Receipts at the Portland Union Stock Yards for the month of June were: Cattle 10501, hogs 5957, sheep 22033, horses and mules 213. The total number of cars was 584. This is an increase of 2149 cattle, a decrease of 3200 hogs, an increase of 3930 sheep, an increase of 61 horses and mules and an increase of 69 cars over last month.

The market for cattle of top quality has remained unchanged throughout the month, while the inferior classes have declined. The demand for warm-up steers has not been strong, while the call for light weight steers of good quality and for cows, heifers and calves has not been answered by the shippers.

The shortage in hog receipts as compared with May is due to the fact that there were fewer Missouri River hogs shipped in. As compared with last year, hog receipts from local territory show an increase of 1325 head. There were 3049 more cattle than there were last month and 2284 more cattle than in June, 1909.

The market has been over-supplied with poor quality sheep, in consideration of which prices that were equal to the May market. As compared with last month, sheep receipts increased 3930; as compared with June, 1909, there was an increase of 2614 head.

The receipts at this market for six months as compared with the first half of last year show an increase of 18,125 cattle, 14,347 hogs, 11,994 sheep, or 798 cars. The value of the live stock receipts for the six months ending June 30, 1910, approximates $4,600,000.

The establishment of this market has meant much for the live stock industry of the Pacific Northwest and it will continue to grow with the country. Conducting along constructive lines with open competitive methods, seller and buyer meet under conditions that are fair to both.

Representative sales for the week were: Steers, $4.50 to $6.65; heifers, $4.75; cows, $4.25 to $4.75; hogs, $9.30 to $10; lambs, $5.75; sheep, $4.10 to $4.50.

PRETTY HOME WEDDING

Miss Frank Hayter Becomes Bride of Henry R. Patterson.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Hayter was the scene of a pretty wedding Thursday evening, when at 5:30 o'clock, their daughter, Frank Hayter, became the bride of Henry R. Patterson, of Independence.

The Reverend A. C. Corbin, a former pastor of the Dallas Christian Church, and a friend of the family, read the marriage vows.

The parlor was profusely decorated with sweet peas, lilies and roses, and the dining room with red rambler roses.

The bride wore a princess gown of white silk with train and a veil caught with a diamond. She carried an arm bouquet of bride's roses. Miss Elsie Ray was maid of honor, and was accompanied by a friend in pink and carried pink carnations. The groom was attended by Mr. Milton Herz, of Portland.

Just before the bride party entered the room, Miss Ella Roy sang "A Gift." Mrs. Lottie Hedges-Dorris, of Independence, played the wedding march. Light refreshments followed the ceremony. Punch was served in the dining room by Miss Hallie Cook and Miss Nola Cook. Many handsome presents were received.

Henry Patterson is a son of H. R. Patterson, of Portland. He is a native son of Polk County and a graduate of the University of Oregon. His bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Hayter, and was born and raised in Dallas.

Mr. and Mrs. Patterson will begin housekeeping on a farm near Independence.

BUSINESS CONDITIONS

Extract from Editorial in New York Herald, May 30, 1910.

The only unfavorable element in the situation is the unfavorable attitude of federal lawmakers and state officials toward the railways and the spirit which would prevent the companies from moderately advancing their charges to offset the increased cost of operation. When the manufacturer is obliged to pay higher prices for raw material and increased wages, he does the only possible thing in the circumstances and correspondingly raises the charge for his product. The railways are obliged to pay increased prices for supplies and higher wages, and it is only reasonable that they should get more for what they sell, namely, transportation.

"That they are impelled to raise their charges is plain from current traffic returns showing increased gross takings, while costs of operation have increased in still greater ratio, with resulting decrease in net earnings. Unless the greatest of all industries is permitted to prosper, the country cannot be prosperous."

Library Report for June.

The report of Miss Jennie Munroe, the efficient assistant librarian of the Dallas Free Library for the month of June shows totals as follows: Children's books loaned, 184; fiction books loaned, 445; non-fiction books loaned, 62. The number of callers was 1347, and 21 new borrowers' cards were issued. New books on the rental list are:

PRODUCES BEST MEAT

OREGON IS PRE-EMINENTLY A HOG COUNTRY.

High-Class Beef Can Also Be Produced—Expert Tells of Importance of Better Feeding.

From a letter written by Dr. Withycombe, director of the Oregon Agricultural Experiment Station, the following extracts are taken:

The Northwest offers unlimited opportunities for producing high-class beef. Despite the fact that corn may not be available, other feed stuffs equally as good can be produced in great abundance. Good killing stuff can be secured from well-cured wild or alfalfa hay. There is little waste in feeding well-cured alfalfa hay cut at the proper season, but when overripe or coarse its value will be increased from 20 to 25 per cent by running it through a cutter.

Some grain or succulent feed should be fed with hay to fatten cattle. In practically all of the stock feeding districts the field pea or fodder can be grown. If these are ensiled and fed in the following ration—15 pounds of alfalfa or wild hay, 20 pounds of corn or pea silage and 5 pounds rolled barley, a gain of 2 pounds per day should be secured for a period of 90 days. It would put the steer in prime condition and thus add from 1 to 2 cents per pound to the value of his initial weight.

Another excellent feed for fattening cattle is a combination of alfalfa and barbed wire hay. These may be grown separately or in many instances grown together advantageously. For example, fields where alfalfa is not thickly set should be thoroughly disced with a spike-tooth disc in the spring and barbed wire drilled in and the whole cut for hay. This combination is excellent for putting beef cattle in the very best condition for market.

Sheep.

Prime mutton can be economically produced from the same feed suggested for cattle. In Eastern Oregon the principal winter fattening feed should be alfalfa and barbed wire hay and rolled barley. In Western Oregon conditions are ideal for producing the highest quality of mutton and early market lamb. The winter feed should be clover and vetch hay, kale and rolled barley. These feeds can all be produced in great quantities and cannot be excelled for mutton production. Much of the growth of sheep, however, in this section can be secured in the open field from rape and winter grain.

Hogs.

Oregon is pre-eminently a hog country. No section can excel this state for quality of production when properly finished on home-grown feed. Barley or wheat are the ideal fattening feed for hogs. At the Oregon Experiment Station in feeding experiments conducted for the past ten years the average amount of wheat or barley required to produce one pound gain was four and one-half pounds. It was also ascertained that it costs approximately from three and one-half to four cents per pound to grow a pig to fattening age. This must be done, however, largely in the open field on alfalfa, vetch, clover or rape.

Pigs grazed on clover during the summer have given a return in growth of over 40 per cent and from alfalfa even higher than this. Estimating that it costs four cents per pound to grow the hog and when ready to be fattened he weighs 150 pounds, makes a total cost of $6. After consuming 450 pounds of wheat or barley he should weigh 250 pounds and worth at seven cents per pound $17.50 or giving a return for 450 pounds of wheat or barley of $11.50. This gives a gross return to the farmer for his wheat of $1.35 per bushel, and for his barley $1.35 per bushel.

Field peas are also valuable for hogs. These may be fed off without harvesting and will yield a return from gain of hogs representing from $10 to $15 per acre. In alfalfa growing sections hogs can be grown very cheaply and finished economically upon barley.

OFFICERS DENY RUMOR

Prison Officials Know Nothing of Reported Assault by Convicts.

Thursday's Evening Telegram prints the following dispatch concerning the reported assault of a Buena Vista farmer by two escaped convicts:

"A report was circulated in this city by unknown parties last night to the effect that a farmer residing near Buena Vista was beaten senseless yesterday afternoon by two men, supposed to be the convicts who escaped from the penitentiary last Saturday, and that after dragging the farmer out of the wagon in which he and his son were driving to town, kidnapped the son and drove back in a southerly direction towards Corvallis."

"Neither Warden Frank Curtis, of the penitentiary, nor Sheriff Harry Minto have any report to this effect today, and telephone communication with people in Buena Vista shows no light upon the reported assault or kidnapping. The authorities in Salem have made a thorough investigation of the affair, but can learn nothing about it, nor can they locate the person alleged to have been assaulted."

Pioneer Preacher Marries.

The marriage of Mrs. Julia Hall of Brownsville and Rev. J. W. Craig, of Portland, was solemnized at the M. E. parsonage Tuesday evening, June 21. Rev. T. L. Jones officiating. Mrs. Craig has resided in Brownsville for many years and is a highly esteemed lady. Mr. Craig is also highly spoken of. They will reside in Brownsville.

Lost a Finger.

Frank Gamble, who is superintendent of the Combination Chair Factory in West Salem, Friday afternoon had the misfortune of having a finger of his right hand cut off by a saw. His hand was also otherwise lacerated, but not seriously.

RECORD RUN FOR AUTO

From Portland to Tillamook, via Sheridan, in Four Hours.

By covering the distance from Portland to Tillamook in four hours Roy Wilson, who is employed by the Northwest Buick Company, smashed all records for speed between the two places.

Mrs. Geiser, of the Calumet Hotel, received word that her sister was dangerously ill at Tillamook, and, wishing to reach her bedside, she appealed to the Buick people, and they sent out their crack driver. The car used was a model "Sixteen" 40-horsepower Buick.

The start was made promptly at 1 o'clock from Portland to McMinnville, all the speed laws were disregarded, and the machine was let out at its full capacity. They thundered over bridges and past farmhouses with the startled speed of an express train, and the startled inhabitants hardly had time to realize that the flying object was an automobile before it was but a speck on the horizon.

The high speed was maintained until the mountainous region was reached, where it was necessary to slow down owing to the roughness of the road.

After leaving Dolph, on the summit of the mountains, it was necessary to slow down considerably, owing to the steep grade between this point and Hebo, and here considerable time was lost.

A team on the grade became frightened, and before Mr. Wilson succeeded in getting his machine past over 10 minutes had been lost.

After reaching Hebo the roads became better, and the machine was again let out and fairly ate up the distance until within a few miles of Tillamook, where it was necessary to slow down again owing to the mud.

For a time it looked as though the trip would be delayed until mud chains could be put on the wheels, but after panting and struggling for a couple of miles through the sticky mud the machine gained former ground and made its third dash for Tillamook.

At exactly 10 minutes past 5 a long distance telephone message was received at the garage saying the machine had arrived at Tillamook at 5 o'clock without an injury of any kind.

LARGE TIMBER DEAL

B. Gildner Heads Syndicate Buying 2400 Acres.

One of the largest timber deals negotiated this summer was closed Saturday by the organization of a syndicate to take over a tract of 2400 acres of timber lands in Tillamook County, on the new Hill railroad. The syndicate is composed of B. Gildner, president; Russ Sewall, secretary and treasurer; E. E. Wilbur, Ed. J. Daly, M. H. Hansen, St. Blumauer, John W. Swasey, W. B. Streeter and others. The price paid is $220,000. The purchasing syndicate is incorporated at $210,000. The timber has been cruised at 200,000,000 feet, the price paid being on the basis of $1 a thousand feet. It was bought from varied small interests some of the settlers having taken up the lands 25 years ago at practically no cost.

Mr. Gildner, who organized the syndicate with E. J. Daly, says the company will cut the tract and the plans include putting in a mill on the property as soon as the railroad is in operation. Branch logging railroads will be put in at various places, running back into the timber. The Hill line will be completed within 18 months and the lumber from the tract will be handled in the Portland market. The tract is composed mostly of spruce fir, the stand being about 90 per cent this kind of timber. There is some larch—Oregonian.

DROWNS IN MILL CREEK

MRS. CLARENCE DENHAM LOSES LIFE IN ICEY WATERS.

Goes to Rescue of Children and Falls Between Saw Logs Above Cedar Creek Dam.

Mrs. Clarence Denham was drowned in Mill Creek late last Friday afternoon while attempting to save her 13-year-old adopted daughter and another child from a perilous position on a log boom near the logging camp.

The accident occurred at the mouth of Cedar Creek, ten miles above the Sheridan Lumber Company's sawmill. Mrs. Denham's adopted daughter and another little girl had been picking flowers near the camp, and, desiring to cross the creek, had walked out on the log boom above the dam. When the children fell into the water, which at that place is about 15 feet deep.

Seeing the plight of the children, the mother ran to their assistance. Before she could reach them, her adopted child scrambled to the bank and out of danger. In attempting to rescue the other little girl, Mrs. Denham ran out onto a floating log. When within a few feet of the child, the log rolled and Mrs. Denham was thrown into the water. Being unable to swim, and chilled by the cold mountain water, the unfortunate woman was unable to save herself, and after a short struggle she sank from view.

Child Escapes from Danger.

Meanwhile, the child had succeeded in reaching a floating log and had climbed out of the water to a place of safety. Being unable to render any assistance, Mrs. Denham's adopted daughter ran to where the loggers were working and gave the alarm. The men hurried to the spot and removed the other little girl from her perilous position. They then sent a telephone message to Sheriff Grant, informing him of Mrs. Denham's death.

Early Saturday morning, Acting Coroner Hardy Holman drove to the scene of the drowning. When he arrived there, the body had been found and it was soon drawn ashore. After looking over the scene and questioning the men and the two little girls as to the manner in which Mrs. Denham had met her death, the officer decided that no formal inquest was necessary. Placing the body in his conveyance, Coroner Holman brought it to the Sheridan Lumber Company's mill and turned it over to an undertaker from Sheridan.

Mr. and Mrs. Denham were cooks at the logging camp and had lived in Polk County only a short time. Mrs. Denham was about 33 years old. The husband was in Portland at the time of the drowning.

BACK FROM THE WOODS

Hundreds of Loggers Spend Fourth in Salem and Portland.

The Salem Statesman says the capital city was thronged last week with loggers and mill hands from all parts of the Willamette Valley. Many of these "lumber jacks" spent the Fourth of July holiday in Salem, while others went on to Portland to enjoy their vacation and rid themselves of their surplus coin. The Statesman says: "Most of these itinerants are from the timber camps and lumber mills up the valley and are participating in their semi-annual vacations, so to speak, one of which is always arranged that it will include the Fourth of July and the other the Christmas holidays. They are not tramps or 'Wearies'—they are hard-working, branny men who are seeking their 'vacations' in the cities with as much pleasure as does the city resident his in coast or mountain resorts. They have purses plerotic with the gold, silver and banknotes representing savings from the pay-checks of the past few months. They are not advocates of a 'same' observation of this country's natal day, for their days of quietude have been somewhat in the majority during the fading half of the present year, and they will make the eagle-bird scream more vociferously than is predicted by the flaming posters that adorn billboards and country barns these days as announcers of the several Fourth-of-July celebrations.

"But are another half-month they will be 'homeward' bound—back to the forests and mills—financially 'dead-broke' and reflecting over the matter of whether or not they are really as well off as they thought to have been during the time of their mingling with the doing of the city."

BEER BY TRUCK LOAD

Salem Brewery Reaps Golden Harvest from Dry Counties.

At the big booster meeting held at Dallas recently there was one speaker who recited among the needs of that live town several industries for which there seemed to be a demand. Among them was the statement that judging from the blind pig traffic, Dallas needed a brewery or a suit case factory. The men who have thronged the bottling works at the big Salem brewery the last two days, getting their suitcases filled with bottled beer to pack off into dry counties south and west of Salem looked solemn and guilty but they numbered hundreds.

Drayloads of Beer for Dry.

Many drayloads were shipped by express to Albany, Corvallis and Harrisburg. Boxes, barrels, and kegs, half-barrels, and cases—all containing straight Salem brewery products went out to dealers and private parties, all determined to have something in connection with the Fourth of July celebrations. The day of liberty and freedom when the eagle soars and the British are once more routed from the battle fields of the revolution is not to go off without parched throats being refreshed with some liquid besides river water more or less polluted with sewage.

The big Salem brewery reaps a golden harvest from the business of the dry counties as it is all cash trade and they get their own prices. The consumption is quick and there are no kicks about the quality, although it is identical the same for the dry counties as the wet. So goes the merry battle over booze and sales increase in the territory dedicated to prohibition—Salem Journal.

MARRIED IN ALBANY

Mrs. Mildred Elliott Becomes Wife of John J. Gross.

At noon Monday, June 20, 1910, at the St. Charles Hotel, Albany, Oregon, the marriage of Mrs. Mildred Elliott of Brownsville, and Mr. John J. Gross of Walla, Walla, Washington, was solemnized in the presence of a few relatives and immediate friends by Rev. R. F. Jameson of the Brownsville Baptist church.

After congratulations had been offered, a sumptuous wedding dinner was served. The bride party returned to Brownsville on the afternoon train.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elias Hale, who reside near this city, where she has lived most of her life. She is loved and esteemed by a large circle of friends. Mr. Gross was formerly a Brownsville also, but has lived in Eastern Oregon and Washington for some years. He is a man honored by all who know him. He followed ranching for several years, but is now residing in Walla, Walla, to which place he will take his bride in a few days—Brownsville Times.

SOME SCHOOL FIGURES

ATTENDANCE IN POLK COUNTY REACHES NEARLY 95 PER CENT.

The Superintendent's Annual Report Shows Improved Sanitary Conditions in All Districts.

The annual report of the schools of Polk County for the year ending June 17, 1910, has just been completed by County School Superintendent H. C. Seymour. The report shows that good work has been done in all lines. The Superintendent is not yet satisfied with the per cent of attendance and will work for still better results next year. He says:

"While our per cent of attendance this year has not reached the 95 we were striving for, we have made a very large gain. I believe that with the same co-operation next year in the matter of attendance, we will be able to reach that 95 per cent we have been working for."

Some Interesting Figures.

The number of school districts in Polk County is 68. Of the 68 districts, 66 maintain a school. The number of children in the county between the ages of 4 and 20 years is 4162, of whom 2142 are males and 2020 are females. The number of children attending school during the year was 2886. Twenty-five male teachers and 107 female teachers were employed. Seventy teachers' certificates were issued, and 143 pupils were granted eighth grade diplomas.

The whole number of days attendance was 326,897; total days absence, 21,346; whole number of times late, 1858; average daily attendance, 2350; per cent of attendance, 94.4; number of pupils neither absent nor tardy during the year, 171; number of visits by parents, 730; number of visits by members of school boards, 239.

Roll of Honor.

Schools placed on the roll of honor for having made a per cent of attendance of 95 or more for the entire year are: Dallas, Red Prairie, Lewisville, Ballston, Monmouth, Scroggins, Goose-neck, Oak Point, Elkins, Basell, Spring Valley, Harmony, Libola, North Dallas, Enterprise, Etna, McMinnville, Valley, McCoy, Teal's, Falls City, Pioneer, Rock Creek and Mistletoe.

Schools having no tardies during the entire year are Lincoln, McMinnville, Valley and Rock Creek.

Improved Sanitary Conditions.

Concerning the sanitary condition of the school buildings, Superintendent Seymour says: "In the beginning of the school year we asked that all school houses be fitted with window boards, if other means of ventilation had not already been provided. We have been working along this line all the year, and now, out of the 68 schools in the county, 41 have the window boards or some other form of proper ventilation. Fifty-nine schools have the individual drinking cups or the fountain. Nearly all outbuildings in the county have been placed in a sanitary condition, and many school grounds have been improved and drained. It will therefore be seen that along the lines of health we have made great advancement."
